⁾ The two first albums, The Piper at the Gates of Dawn and A Saucerful of Secrets were issued in stereo and mono versions. Both versions were assembled from different studio takes. Some tracks have more significant differences than others. Mono version of A Saucerful of Secrets was never officially released on CD.

^{*)} Atom Heart Mother, Dark Side of the Moon and Wish You Were Here were released in stereo and quad versions. Pink Floyd worked on quad mixes separately and some tracks are noticeably different, using different vocals, guitar solos etc. Quad mixes were never officially released on CDs.

^{*)} Includes live material.
 It is known, that more material was recording for Ummagumma, Delicate Sound of Thunder and Pulse than made it onto the final releases. An Live in Montreux album was also planned and the concerts in Atlanta, USA in 1988 were also recorded and some tracks used on singles and promos.

PINK FLOYD CD DISCOGRAPHY

Overview Pink Floyd BBC Sessions

Pink Floyd recorded several studio sessions for the BBC, but have never agreed to their release. Some of these recordings circulate on LPs pressed for radio use only. For example:

BBC Transcription Disc 12FPM 13325/6 S two 1-sided 12" LPs, includes tracks from the 1970 session
 BBC Transcription Disc 12 FPM 129476/8 SA three 1-sided 12" LPs, includes tracks from the 1971 session

The complete BBC sessions ¹⁾

3 April 1967	Monday, Monday	Arnold Layne / Candy and a Currant Bun. Live session broadcast from BBC Playhouse Theatre, London.

30 Sept 1971	In Concert	Fat Old Sun / One of these Days / Echoes / The Embryo / Blues Recorded at BBC Paris Cinema, London. Broadcast 12 October 1971. Note: Blues was never broadcasted in UK

In June 2008 BBC Worldwide has made a deal with EMI Music making the BBC's archives commercially and legally available. Audio and video of classic performances from the likes of Queen, David Bowie and Pink Floyd will be included in this. The BBC will have the rights to distribute the content direct to consumers via their own digital services such as online streaming. EMI will be able to release BBC archive material across multiple platforms including digital, with both companies receiving royalties from all the sales.

But until today no Pink Floyd BBC recordings have been officially published for the regular market.

PINK FLOYD CD DISCOGRAPHY

Overview Pink Floyd The Man and the Journey

In 1969 Pink Floyd performed a series of concerts in the form of a concept suite divided into two parts: The Man and The Journey. Included were mainly familiar but re-titled songs.

The suite was first performed on April 14th, 1969 at the Royal Festival Hall in a show titled as "The Massed Gadgets of Auximenes - More Furious Madness from Pink Floyd". A shortened version of the show was recorded on May 12th, 1969 for the Top Gear radio programme.

The most known and widely bootlegged version is the performance from 17th September 1969 at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam - this concert was professionally recorded and broadcasted by the Dutch radio station VPRO.

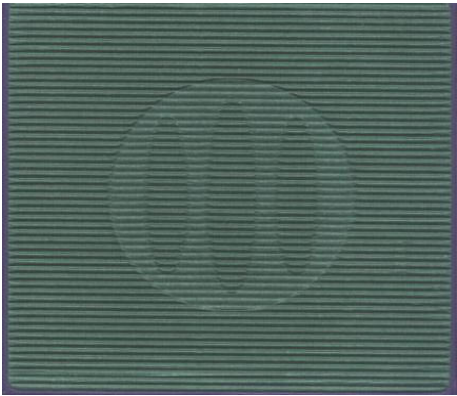

It was originally planned to release this concept as an album in it's own right but abandoned due to overlap of material with songs on already released albums. Only three tracks never made it to official release.

In the tracklisting below you can see the equations with the songs used on official albums.

The Man	Daybreak, Part I equates with Grantchester Meadows on Ummagumma
	Work Percussion and vibraphone with musical sawing & hammering, not used on other albums
	Teatime Pink Floyd were served tea on stage at this point
	Afternoon equates with Biding My Time on Relics
	Doing It! equates with The Grand Vizier's Garden Party (Part 2) (starting at 6:12 onwards), from Ummagumma . In some performances this song was replaced by a unique combination of Up the Khyber (More) and an early Heart Beat Pig Meat (Zabriskie Point)
	Sleep equates with Quicksilver on More
	Nightmare equates with Cymbaline on More
	Daybreak, Part II equates with Grantchester Meadows on Ummagumma (instrumental reprise, with alarm clock sound effects)
	The Journey
The Beginning equates with Green Is the Colour on More
Beset By Creatures of the Deep equates with Come in Number 51, Your Time is Up (Zabriskie Point) / studio version of Careful with That Axe, Eugene (Relics)
The Narrow Way equates with The Narrow Way, Part 3 on Ummagumma
The Pink Jungle equates with Pow R. Toc H. on The Piper at the Gates of Dawn , in some performances a unique instrumental, similar to Nick's Boogie
The Labyrinths of Auximines Part of Interstellar Overdrive, from The Piper at the Gates of Dawn , a riff commonly played during the middle (not the main riff), not used on other albums in full length
Behold the Temple of Light A few seconds of this piece is heard on Ummagumma just before The Narrow Way, part 3 expanded, not used on other albums in full length
The End of the Beginning equates with A Saucerful of Secrets, Celestial Voices section (starting at 8:38 onwards) on A Saucerful of Secrets

The last recording session took place on 5th July 1967. The original UK LP (with a mono mix) was released in August 1967, and one month later it was released in stereophonic mix. The original US album appeared on the Tower Records label and was released in October 1967. The version from Tower Records was officially entitled simply Pink Floyd. The US album featured an abbreviated track listing. The Tower Records vinyl issue also faded out Interstellar Overdrive and broke up the segue into The Gnome because the songs were re-sequenced. Later US issues on CD had the same title and track list as the UK version. The stereo mix of the album was first released on CD in 1987, and re-released as a digitally remastered CD in 1994 in Europe and then in June 1995 in the USA. Special limited editions were issued to mark its 30th and 40th anniversaries in 1997 (mono CD) and 2007 (mono and stereo CDs). In 1997 EMI released a remastered, limited mono mix version in a card box. This mono CD included a slightly edited version of Flaming. Both the two- and three-disc 40th anniversary editions were released in September 2007. The packaging of the three-disc version, designed by Storm Thorgerson, resembles a cloth-covered book, along with a twelve page reproduction of Syd Barrett notebook. Discs one and two contain the full albums (mono/stereo). Both have been newly remastered by James Guthrie. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2001 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe. In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante. The album cover was photographed and designed by Vic Singh, unlike subsequent Pink Floyd albums. The album is named after the title of chapter 7 in Kenneth Graham's book 'The Wind in the Willow'.

Tonite Let's All Make Love in London is a 1967 documentary made by Peter Whitehead. The film includes a series of interviews and psychedelic performances.

An LP soundtrack album for the film was originally released on July 18th, 1968. Later the soundtrack has been several times released on CD with a different track listing and artwork. In 1998 the CD was also added as a bonus to the 4th issue of the Jerry Lucky's book The Progressive Rock Files.

On the original vinyl soundtrack album, the song Nick's Boogie was not included and Interstellar Overdrive was cut into several pieces. With exception of the US issue on Immediate, the CD editions include Nick's Boogie and the full length version of Interstellar Overdrive. Some of the CD releases and the 2009 vinyl re-release include the Pink Floyd material only (see tracklistings above).

Ummagumma is a double album released in 1969. The first disc is a live recording, the second one contains individual compositions by each member of the band.

The live part of Ummagumma was recorded live at Mothers Club, Birmingham, on 27th April 1969 and the following week at Manchester College of Commerce, on 2nd May 1969. The studio part included four solo segments (one half-side of each LP) by Richard Wright, Roger Waters, David Gilmour, and Nick Mason was recorded at Abbey Road between April and June 1969.

The album was released in the UK on 25th October 1969 and then in the USA on 10th November 1969. In 1987, the album was released for the first time on a two CD set. A digitally remastered version was released in 1994 in the UK and 1995 in the USA. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2001 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe.

In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante.

On the remastered CD, Part 1 of Sisyphus was splitted into two tracks and called Part 1 and Part 2. Part 2 on vinyl became Part 3 on CD, and Part 3 and Part 4 were combined on the CD into Part 4 (the original Part 4 begins with the large orchestral thud). The Narrow Way and The Grand Vizier's Garden Party were also split into their original three parts for easier navigation.

The cover of the original LP varies between the European and US/Canadian releases. The UK version has the album Gigi leaning against the wall immediately above the 'Pink Floyd' letters. On most copies of the US album version, the Gigi cover was airbrushed to a plain white sleeve, apparently because of copyright concerns. The original US and Canadian copies do show the Gigi cover, and it was restored for the US remastered CD edition.

Two version of front cover exists: Includes the Gigi LP or includes a blank LP.

The original Gigi LP.

The inner gatefold art shows several black and white photos of the band members. Original vinyl editions showed Roger Waters with his first wife, but she has been cropped out of the picture on all CD editions. Excerpt: Japanese and European mini LP replica.

The album title comes from a slang word for sexual intercourse.

The Best of the Pink Floyd is a compilation album of early Pink Floyd music, concentrating on singles from 1967 to 1969. This album was only issued on LP in mono in 1970 in Holland. The songs on the album are taken from vinyl singles. The compilation was reissued in 1974 in Germany, Italy, and the Netherlands as Masters of Rock. Two different sleeve designs were used: one based on the picture from the centre of the album sleeve for Meddle, and a later edition with the title filling the front cover. The latter edition is titled Masters of Rock, Volume 1, on the back cover it says, "Originally issued as The Best of Pink Floyd".

Relics was released on May 14, 1971 in the UK and July 15, 1971 in the United States. A remastered CD was released in 1996 with a different album cover; a model-ship based on the original sketch drawn by drummer Nick Mason for the initial release. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in June 2001.

Until the release of The Early Singles in 1992, Relics was mostly noted for its inclusion of Arnold Layne and See Emily Play, as well as B-sides to three other singles. It is notable that the Relics versions of Paintbox, Julia Dream and Careful with That Axe, Eugene are mixed in stereo. Relics has the only CD release of Paintbox that has the same length (3:33) as the original single version had; on the CDs The Early Singles (from Shine On box), The First Three Singles, and the 40th anniversary edition of The Piper at the Gates of Dawn, it fades out about 13 seconds later.

The album also includes a previously unreleased studio recording of the song Biding My Time. Songs previously released on albums are identical to their album versions.

In addition to variations on the original design, the LP was released in several countries with completely different artwork. The four-eyed face on the original US album cover was actually an antique bottle opener.

Examples of different LP covers

The original album cover was designed by drummer Nick Mason. When the album was released on CD, Storm Thorgerson arranged to make a real-life version of the ship on the cover (constructed by John Robertson).

Real-life version of the ship by John Robertson

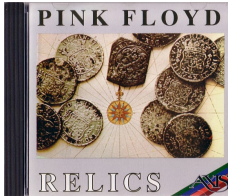

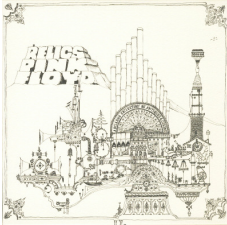

Careful with that Axe, Eugene has a duration of 5:45, even though 7:45 is printed on the LP cover. The CD-cover has the track times wrong for all of the songs:

	printed	correct
Arnold Layne	5:15	2:56
Interstellar Overdrive	3:28	9:43
See Emily Play	3:34	2:53

1971

One of These Days(Waters, Wright, Gilmour, Mason) [5:57]A Pillow of Winds(Waters, Gilmour) [5:07]Fearless(Waters, Gilmour) [6:05]San Tropez(Waters) [3:40]Seamus(Waters, Wright, Mason, Gilmour) [2:13]Echoes(Waters, Wright, Gilmour, Mason) [23:32]*

Meddle was recorded in various studios (Air Studios, EMI Studios, Abbey Road, Morgan Studios, London) between 4th January and 27th August 1971.

The original LP was released in the US on 30th October 1971 and in the UK on November 5th. The first CD edition was released in 1984 in Japan for worldwide release. The album was later remastered by MFSL in 1984 for vinyl and cassette issue, in 1989 for Ultradisc and in 1993 for Ultradisc II issue on CD.

In 1992 followed the remastering by Doug Sax (supervised by James Guthrie) for the Shine On box set. This latter digital master was used for a CD reissue with additional artwork by Hipgnosis, released in August 1994 in Europe and in April 1995 in the USA. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2001 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe.

In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante.

A Nice Pair is a compilation album reissuing the first 2 Pink Floyd albums. The double LP was originally released in December 1973 in the USA and in January 1974 in the UK and was never officially issued on CD. Includes the records The Piper at the Gates of Dawn and A Saucerful of Secrets.

The US edition includes the live version of Astronomy Domine taken from Ummagumma instead of the studio version from The Piper at the Gates of Dawn.

The fold-out cover consists of 2 grids of 18 small pictures of proposed but previously unused album cover designs from Hypnosis archives. One of the pictures presents a woman's breasts. This picture was censored with a black bar on some copies, while other US copies opted to cover it with a purple and white sticker over the shrink wrap. Initial copies had a picture of W. R. Phang's dental surgery on the cover, but Dr. Phang objected because dentists were not allowed to advertise, and the picture was replaced with one another of a gargling monk. US editions from the 1980s restored both the nudity and the W. R. Phang photo.

Wish You Were Here was recorded at Abbey Road Studios between January and July 1975. The original LP was released on September 15th, 1975. In 1980 Columbia's CBS Mastersound label released a half-speed mastered audiophile LP. The very first CD pressing was a Japanese one made in October 1982. At the time, there were only 2 tracks on the CD (Side 1 and Side 2). The album was first digitally remastered in 1992 for the box set Shine On. In 1993, Sony Mastersound released a 24 karat gold-plated CD of the album, in both longbox and regular jewel case forms, the latter with a cardboard slipcover. Then, the 1992 remaster was made available in 1994 as a CD in its own right in the UK and Europe. with the CDs picture label depicted a flame with a black background. Then in December 1997, Columbia Records released an updated remaster. The Columbia CD's artwork featured a recreation of the original vinyl picture label, the handshake logo with a black and blue background. The album was subsequently re-released on April 25th, 2000 in time for its 25th anniversary, on the Capitol Records label in the US, and on the EMI label for the rest of the world again using the 1992 Shine On remaster. The EMI release was in the form of mini LP replica. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in September 2000 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe. Next re-release was the 2011 'Why Pink Floyd?' capaign encompassed three different series: Discovery, Experience and Immersion. All Discovery albums can also be bought as a full set in the Discovery Box. The remastering of the 2011 re-editions was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante. Also in 2011 a hybrid Super Audio CD was released. The original vinyl release was intended to be shrouded in an anonymous, all-black (in Europe) and dark blue (in the USA) plastic wrapper. An additional image featuring the band name over the top of two robotic hands in front of the four elements was included as a sticker on top. Removing this outer wrapper then revealed the proper artwork with the flaming businessman, shaking hands. A postcard with an alternate version of the latter picture and Wish You Were Here written on the back was also included.   Two versions of the original LP issues: Lef: European LP in black, right US LP in blue plastic wrapper. Columbia has originally released the LP with a slightly different sleeve, using an alternative picture showing the burning man standing up straight (instead of leaning toward the other businessman) and taken from a lower angle (on Canadian CD issues this photo was used too). Columbia started using the more familiar EMI photo in 1984 for their first CD issue and kept using it in subsequent reissues, the only exception being the SBM MasterSound Collector's Edition. There are other, subtler differences in the artwork of the more commonly-found remastered CD: the naked female is clearly visible behind the veil in the LP artwork, but is almost completely obscured in the remastered CD booklet (different photo was used); the photo of the diver used in this booklet is larger, and shows more of the background salt formations; additional black-and-white photos of the band working in Abbey Road Studios were added to this booklet as well.   Two versions of front cover photo: Left first US vinyl issue, original Canadian CDs and SBM CDs, right US original CD and remastered CDs from all over the world. CREDITS: David Gilmour - guitar & vocals Roger Waters - bass guitar & vocals Nick Mason - percussion Richard Wright - keyboards Dick Parry - saxophone on Shine on You Crazy Diamond Stephane Grapelli – violin Roy Harper - vocals on Have a Cigar Venetta Fields and Carlena Williams - backing vocals

Animals

Pigs on the Wing (Part 1)(Waters) [1:25]Dogs(Waters, Gilmour) [17:03]Pigs (Three Different Ones)(Waters) [11:25]Sheep(Waters) [10:25]Pigs on the Wing (Part 2)(Waters) [1:23]*

Animals was recorded at Britannia Row studios, London between April and November 1976.

The original LP was released on 23rd January 1977 in the UK and on 2nd February 1977 in the USA.

The CD was released in July 1986. The album was again re-released as a remastered CD as a part of the 1992 box set Shine On..

A "remastered" version was issued in August 1994. In fact, the same matrix for these "remasters" was used as the not remastered one of the first issues in Europe. The only remastered issue of Animals in Europe is the one from the Shine On box.

A new remaster was released in the USA in 1997 as Anniversary Edition.

The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in June 2001 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe.

In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante.

For the 8-track cartridge US release, Parts 1 and 2 were linked by a guitar bridge performed by Snowy White (subsequently available on White's 1996 album 'Goldtop: Groups & Sessions'), and the song Dogs was cut into two tracks.

Snowy White album 'Goldtop: Groups & Sessions'.

A Collection of Great Dance Songs was originally released on November 23rd, 1981. The CD was released in the 1980's, the remastered CD in 1997. A 1997 remastered CD was re-released in 2000 on Capitol Records in the USA and on EMI for the rest of the world including Europe. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2001.

Shine on You Crazy Diamond has been remixed to a short version including part 1 and 2. Wish You Were Here is the original version with small changes in the mix of intro and outro. Also Another Brick in the Wall was changed a little. Contracts and record company policy resulted in different versions being released in Europe and America - Money was rerecorded and edited for the US edition. David Gilmour has re-recorded the track himself playing all of the drums, guitars, keyboards, bass guitar and vocals and co-producing the song with James Guthrie. Dick Parry reprised his saxophone role on the track.

The Final Cut (subtitled as 'A Requiem for the Post War Dream by Roger Waters, performed by Pink Floyd') was recorded in England at Mayfair, Olympic, Abbey Road, Eel Pie, Audio International, Rak, Hookend and The Billiard Room between July and December 1982. It is the final Pink Floyd studio album featuring Roger Waters. The original LP was released in the UK on 21st March 1983 and in the USA on April 2nd 1983. In 1986, the album was released on CD. A digitally remastered CD was released in 1994 in Europe and in 1997 in the USA offering an up to date remastering job. A remastered and repackaged CD was released on 19th March 2004 in Europe and on 4th May 2004 in the USA to commemorate the album's 21st anniversary. The track When the Tigers Broke Free, previously only available as a 1982 single release and, later, on Echoes, was added. The front cover features much sharper reproduction of the medal ribbons, under the slightly smaller album titling. The case features a removable sticker, promoting the extra track When The Tigers Broke Free. Credits now appear for the album, on the rear, alongside the song titles, and a Harvest logo still appears. The booklet has had a timely expansion, showcasing Roger Waters own designs for the album. The rear of the booklet features an enlarged knifed soldier. The booklet has nine extra pages and two new circular pictures - one of which is reproduced on the disc itself. There's also two changes to the credits - the removal of 'Artwork: Artful Dodgers', and the amendment to the mastering to show James Guthrie and Joel Plante's work at Guthrie's Das Boot recording studio. And the overall copyright is changed from Pink Floyd Music Publishers to 'Roger Waters Music Overseas' - although on the back of the CD, it credits 'Pink Floyd Music Ltd'. The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in April 2004 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe (both with the song When The Tigers Broke Free). In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante. The Final Cut was recorded using Holophonics - an audio processing technique used to enhance the aural three-dimensional 'feel' of the recording. Holophonics was used to make sound effects on the album appear more three-dimensional to the listener, particularly when heard on headphones. This technology could not be duplicated if one made a copy of the recording i.e., copying from the vinyl record to tape cassette. The cover was designed by Roger Waters. It features a Remembrance Day poppy and four World War II medal ribbons (from left): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 1939-1945 Star, for at least 6 months service between 1939 and 1945, • Africa Star, for service in the North African Campaign, • Defence Medal, for 3 years service, • Distinguished Flying Cross, for acts of courage, valour or devotion to duty while flying. Vinyl copies did not have the album title on the cover, except a small sticker on the cover with the title "Pink Floyd The Final Cut"; this was added for the CD and cassette releases. CREDITS: David Gilmour Nick Mason Roger Waters

Works is a compilation album originally released in June 1983 by Capitol Records in USA and Canada only. The CD issue of the album was released in January 1987. The main interest for collectors is the track Embryo, an outtake from the Ummagumma sessions, which originally appeared in January 1970 on a various artists compilation Picnic - A Breath of Fresh Air (re-released 2007 as A Breath of Fresh Air on 3CD with additional tracks). Also unique to Works, the tracks Brain Damage and Eclipse are presented as alternate versions, both are from the quadrophonic mix of The Dark Side of the Moon. Some other tracks are present in alternate cross-fade mixes, most notable on the segues between See Emily Play/Several Species of Small Furry Animals and Fearless/Brain Damage. One of These Days mixes the heartbeats from the beginning of The Dark Side of the Moon into its wind opening. This compilation was originally planned with Let There Be More Light instead of Embryo. When you inspect the back LP cover, you will notice that the place where Embryo is printed was adapted somehow.

A Momentary Lapse of Reason was recorded at Astoria, Britannia Row, Mayfair, Audio international (London) and AXM, Can Am, Village Recorder, Le Mobile (L.A.) between October 1986 and May 1987.

The album was originally released in the UK on September 7th, 1987 and in the USA on September 9th, 1987. The CD was released in the early 1990s in Europe.

The album was again re-released as a remastered CD as a part of the 1992 box set Shine On.

Another remastered version was released in the USA and Canada in October 2005. James Guthrie and Joel Plante supplied the label with new masters, and thus the mastering credit was changed from Doug Sax to Guthrie and Plante. Also, a number of minor changes have been noted in the credits and legal text for this latest release.

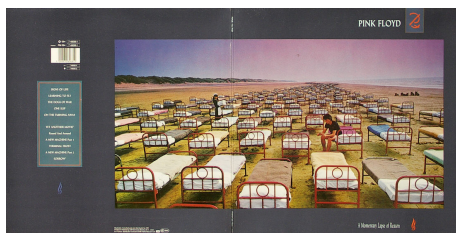

The remastered CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2005 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe.

In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante.

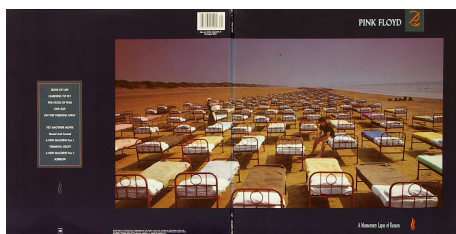

The album was performed largely by David Gilmour and several session musicians, including Richard Wright.

The cover shows 700 hospital beds placed on Saunton Sands, Devon.

Two version of front cover exists: The man on the bed has either a mirror in his hand on US releases or is breaking a drumstick on European releases. On covers of the Japanese and European mini LP replica, the man is breaking a drumstick. On the 2011 European Discovery Edition the man has a mirror in his hand.

The Division Bell was recorded in a number of studios (see below for details) in 1993. The album was originally released on March 30th 1994 in the UK and on April 5th 1994 in the USA. The CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2005 and in December 2007 as a part of the Oh By The Way box in Europe. In 2011 the album was reissued again during the 'Why Pink Floyd?' campaign as Discovery edition and as a part of the Discovery box - the remastering of the 2011 re-edition was conducted by James Guthrie and Joel Plante.

The vinyl version is slightly different from CD version: At the end of High Hopes the telephone sequence with Charlie was partially left out, most songs have been shortened (Poles Apart, Marooned, Wearing the Inside Out, Coming Back to Life, Lost for Words, and High Hopes).

The cover artwork, by long-time Pink Floyd collaborator Storm Thorgerson, shows two metal head sculptures each over three metres tall and weighing 1500 kilograms. They were placed in a field in Cambridgeshire. Ely Cathedral is visible in the background through the sculptures' mouths.

Two additional 7.5 metres tall stone head sculptures were made too and photographed in the same manner. They appear on the cassette cover.

Pulse was recorded during the Division Bell tour in 1994, specifically the UK and European leg, which ran from July to October 1994.

The album was originally released on May 29th, 1995 in the UK and on June 6th, 1995 in the USA. First CD issue has had a blinking red LED on the cardbox spine. The 2000 reissue has a slightly modified glossy cardbox and no LED on spine. The CD was also issued as mini LP replica in Japan in May 2005. In August 2006 Pulse was reissued in Europe for the first time in a double jewel slimline box.

The album includes a complete live version of The Dark Side of the Moon.

The first cassette issue had two bonus tracks: One of These Days and a 22 minute ambient piece that was played off prior to the 1994 concerts. The following issues on cassettes have only One of These Days as bonus track. The vinyl version comes in a four-LP box and includes One of These Days as well as a large version of the photo booklet.

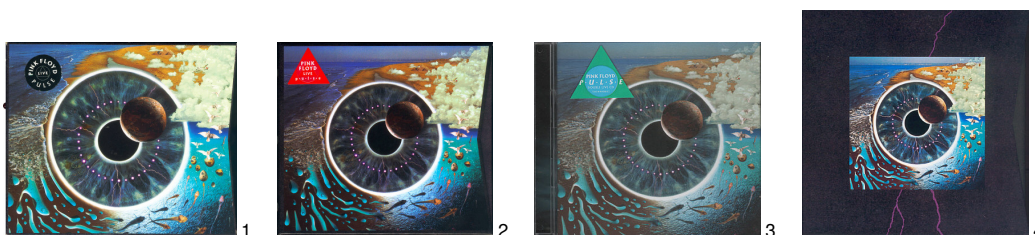

Early CD versions came with a blinking red LED on the side of the case, that flashed to the heartbeat heard at the beginning of Dark Side of the Moon. This was designed by EMI contractor Jon Kempner.

Is There Anybody Out There? includes selected tracks from the August 1980 and June 1981 performances at Earls Court in London. The album was released as a hardcover book longbox on CD only on March 27th, 2000 in Europe. On April 10th, the longbox was withdrawn from the musicstores and the normal issue in a thick jewel box was released. In the USA the hardcover longbox was issued on 18th April 2000. In July 2005, Is There Anybody Out There? was re-issued in the US and Canada. James Guthrie and Joel Plante supplied the label with new masters, and thus the mastering credit was changed from Doug Sax and Gavin Lurssen to Guthrie & Plante. The booklet features some songwriting updates and mentions that the MC: Atmos on disc one used a sample of We'll Meet Again by Vera Lynn. The album includes two tracks titled MC:Atmos. MC is short for 'Master of Ceremonies/Atmosphere'. The 'Master' was the spoken words before the shows started. A lot of people were provoked by the MC but he was actually a scripted part of the show.

The Last Few Bricks is a new title for the instrumental piece that was played close to the end of part one allowing the stagehands to complete the construction of the wall. The piece is a medley made up from other songs from the show and was earlier called Almost Gone.

Is There Anybody Out There? is the only Pink Floyd album which was not released on LP format.

Echoes: The Best of Pink Floyd is a compilation album and was released on November 5th, 2001 in the UK and on November 6th, 2001 in the USA. The vinyl issue on 4 LPs in a glossy cardboard slipcase was released in February 2002.

The compilation spans the career of Pink Floyd from their first single Arnold Layne in 1967, through to High Hopes. Each of the non-chronological remastered tracks sequesters into the next - the 26 songs has been mixed together to one piece of merging music by producer and engineer James Guthrie.

Echoes is the first album released on CD that includes When the Tigers Broke Free. This song has previously only been released on a vinyl single, never before on commercial CD. First in 2004 EMI has reissued the album The Final Cut with this song.

The Madcap Laughs was Syd Barrett's first solo album. It was recorded at Abbey Road between 28th May and 5th August 1969.

The original LP was released on 3rd January 1970. The first CD version was released in 1986. The remastered CD version was first issued as a part of the Crazy Diamond box in April 1993 with alternative artwork and label design and some previously unreleased bonus tracks. This remastered CD was then issued independently in May 1994. In August 2001 a mini LP replica of the album was issued in Japan.

The nude woman appearing on the rear of the record sleeve was Syd Barrett's girlfriend who was part Inuit and known as Iggy The Eskimo.

The Peel Session was recorded during the performance for the John Peel Show on February 24th, 1970. This recording was broadcasted on March 14th the same year. The original EP was released in February 1988. In 1988 the CD was also issued. In May 2004 The Peel Sessions was re-released with three unreleased songs recorded for a Bob Harris show in 1971 under the new title Radio One Sessions. Bonus tracks were recorded on 24th and 25th February 1971. Bonus tracks on Radio One Sessions are off air recordings. Although they have been digitally remastered, listeners will notice a difference in sound quality. Two of A Kind was credited to Richard Wright on the original Peel Session release, but credited to Barrett solely on later releases, including Wouldn't You Miss Me?. According to David Gilmour, Wright wrote the song but an increasingly confused Barrett insisted that it was his own composition. CREDITS: Syd Barrett - vocals, guitar David Gilmour - bass, guitar, organ, backing vocals Jerry Shirley - drums Producer - John Walters, S.M. On An Island is David Gilmour's third solo album. Much of the album was recorded in Gilmour's private studio at his houseboat Astoria. Orchestrations on the album were arranged by noted Polish film composer Zbigniew Preisner and conducted by Robert Ziegler.

The album was released on CD in the UK on March 6th, 2006 (Gilmour's 60th birthday), and in the USA on March 7th, 2006. In June 2006 the vinyl version was also released in the UK.

Copies of the album initially purchased from Best Buy in the USA contained an exclusive bonus audio CD with the instrumental track Island Jam which was subsequently released on the CD single for Smile in Europe.

The album was re-released in November 2006 with a bonus DVD of Gilmour's performances of On An Island, This Heaven, Smile, Take a Breath, High Hopes and Comfortably Numb from AOL's Music Sessions filmed in New York in April 2006 plus a performance of Astronomy Domine filmed at Abbey Road Studios in August, 2006 and a performance of Take a Breath from Gilmour's most recent DVD, Remember that Night filmed at The Royal Albert Hall in May of 2006.

Radio K.A.O.S.

Radio Waves(Waters) [5:05]Who Needs Information(Waters) [5:49]Me Or Him(Waters) [5:24]The Powers that Be(Waters) [4:36]Sunset Strip(Waters) [4:46]Home(Waters) [6:00]Four Minutes(Waters) [3:29]The Tide Is Turning (After Live Aid)(Waters) [5:44]*

Radio K.A.O.S. was recorded between October and December 1986.

The original LP was released on June 15th, 1987. A few weeks later, the album was released on CD. Some CD presses are labelled with an incorrect patent date of 1967 which should read 1987. The CD was re-released in the 2000s. In May 2005 a mini LP replica was released in Japan (re-released in 2008).

Three songs Get Back to Radio, Molly's Song and Going to Live in LA didn't make it to the final album. But the songs are available on various single releases.

The Morse code on the cover decodes to "Roger Waters Radio KAOS Who Needs Information Th". On recent re-releases, the Morse code on the inside cover and underneath the CD tray reads "E Powers That Be Home The Tide Is Turning Radio Waves".

The Wall Live in Berlin was recorded live on 21st July 1990 in Berlin, Germany. The event's purpose was to commemorate the fall of the Berlin Wall. The original LP was released on 10th September 1990. Also in September 1990 the album was released on CD. The CD was re-released on 23rd June 2003 with different artwork and as SACD. It follows two reissues in 2004 and in 2007 in special packaging includes the CDs and a DVD from the concert. A video (VHS and DVD) of the concert was also commercially released. The Wall Live in Berlin was released as a live recording of the concert, although a couple of tracks were excised from the CD version. In the actual concert on live television, the second song, The Thin Ice and part of the third song, Another Brick in the Wall (Part 1), were disrupted by a short circuit . Those two songs had to be re-recorded for the issue of the video. The live performance of Mother was also haunted by a power failure. Instead, the released version of Mother comes from the dress rehearsal on the previous night before the concert. Consequently, the large projection of Gerald Scarfe's mother character that was projected on the screen during the concert cannot be seen on the video or DVD versions. The Wife's part of The Trial had to be redone in studio, because the image of the live recording had poor quality. What is seen in the video issue is a close-up of Ute Lemper, against a dark background, lip-syncing to the original live sound.

Flickering Flame (subtitled as The Solo Years Volume I) is a compilation album including recordings from 1983 - 2001. It was produced between April and December 2002 and it will not be released again. The album was released on May 13th, 2002 on CD only as limited edition and has since been deleted from the catalogue. It has never been released in North America. In April 2011 the CD was re-released without slipcase and without copy protection. The CD was released in many countries on a copy protected disc, thereby failing to comply with the CD standard and not entitled to use the CD logo. In other countries (including Australia and Argentina), the album was released on a non copy protected true CD. The disk bore the CD logo, and the cover art did not have the warning indicating that it could not be played on a PC. The CD features songs from the Pros and Cons of Hitch Hiking, Radio KAOS, Amused to Death as well as a few rarities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Towers of Faith from the soundtrack 'When the Wind Blows' • Demo for Lost Boys Calling - never-before released • Coverversion of Knockin' on Heaven's Door from the film the 'Dybbuk of the Holy Apple Field'. • Flickering Flame - a new song. CREDITS: Produced by Roger Waters and James Guthrie. 	Ça Ira (French for "That'll do") is an opera in three acts by Roger Waters to a French libretto by Étienne Roda-Gil and his wife Nadine Roda-Gil, based on the historical subject of the French Revolution. The album was recorded between December 1988 and August 2005. The first edition (English version) was released on September 26th, 2005 on CD and SACD . The French version was released. in October 2005. And in August 2006 the English version was issued in Poland. with alternative artwork The opera is named after a song from the French Revolution. Waters did not use the original lyrics (dated about 1790, allegedly from a street singer called Ladré). The work had a long maturing period. The initial version was completed and recorded by the end of 1988. But the project was shelved until 1995, when Waters began reworking the material for a professional recording and the premiere performance. There have been two concert performances of Ça Ira in Rome, Italy and one full production in Poznań, Poland. The premiere took place in Rome on November 17th, 2005, and was followed the next evening by another performance. A full operatic performance took place on 25th August 2006 in Poznań, Poland, and was broadcasted live on Poland's TV. The project involved the same number of musicians from the concert performances in addition to more than 200 dancers from the Great Theatre in Poznań. There were also permanent elements of stage design (such as horses, carriages and war scenes with soldiers and stunt performers) and full costumes. More than 500 artists were involved, and the production reportedly cost in excess of €2 million. Following performances were held in Kiev, Poznań and in Manaus. CREDITS: ÇA IRA 'There Is Hope' an opera in three acts by Roger Waters from the original libretto by Etienne & Nadine Roda-Gil Conductor - Rick Wentworth The Orchestra Leader - Gavyn Wright Choirs London Voices, director - Terry Edwards Italia Conti Childrens Choir, choir master - Roy Gregory The London Oratory Choir, choir master - Mike McCarthy Soloist Jamie Bower - Honest Bird Helen Russill - Madame Antoinette Principial Characters Bryn Terfel - The Ringmaster, The Troublemaker, Louis Capet Ying Huang - Marie Marianne, Marie Antoinette Paul Groves - A Revolutionary Priest, A Military Officer Ismael Lo - A Revolutionary Slave Orchestration & choral arrangements - Rick Wentworth & Roger Waters Producers - Roger Waters & Rick Wentworth Executive producers - Mark Fenwick & Peter Gelb Recorded & mixed by Simon Rhodes Mastered at Abbey Road Studios Additional engineers - Stephane Briand, Nick Griffiths, Nick Wollage Sond effects design - David Novack & David Paterson Music preparation - Doug Logan Introduction & synopsis - Nick Sedgwick Biographies - Carey Sedgwick Production coordinator - Di James Recording studios - Abbey Road, Angel, Air Lyndhurst, Sphere, Whitfield Street (London), Guillaume Tell, Mega (Paris) Orchestra contractor - Isobel Griffiths Language coaches - Muriel Corradini, Sonia Nerdrum, Michel Vallat Illustrations - Nadine Roda-Gil Design concept - Hudson Wright Associates Artwork by Roxanne Slimak at SONY BMG Masterworks Photographs - Adrian Maben Photographs of Roger Waters - Jimmy Jenner, Jr.

The Collection

2011		Repackaged studio albums in a cardboard box: The Pros and Cons of Hitch Hiking Radio K.A.O.S. Amused to Death In the Flesh Ça Ira Repackaged DVD: In the Flesh
The Collection is a seven CDs and one DVD box set released on June, 17th 2011 to coincide with the European leg of The Wall Live Tour. This limited edition was available during the tour only. Also included in the box is a onesided printed sheet with tracklisting and a 16 page booklet with albums credits. The collection contains most of Roger Waters' solo works so, there is no new music included. Most of the included albums are packaged in simple cardboard sleeves. Two of them (In the Flash and Ça ira) are housed in fold-out cardboard sleeves. According to Sony announcement and press information, the CDs should be packaged in LP replica sleeves, but the sleeves are not exact copies of the covers from the vinyl issues. And two of the albums (In the Flash and Ça ira) were never issued on vinyl. There is also a mistake in some issues of the booklet - the pages were bound in wrongly. CREDITS: Editor - Kate Watkins Product Managers - Charlie Stanford and Kelly Gateson Artwork by Amelia Tubb
